
This is a typical scene in the Chinook community where many times a year totes of fish arrive at the Tribal office and are prepared by volunteers from the community.

The fish are then distributed to members in need and used in community events and ceremonies.

Here our elders are assisted by friends of the community (left to right in back—Adam McIsaac; Chinookan artist, Kenny Waltman; Shoalwater Bay Indian Tribe and Chaska Cory; Pit River Tribe).